April Break
2019

longwharf.org/education

Spend April Vacation (APRIL 15-19) at Long Wharf! Each day focuses on a different theatre activity, such as improvisation, playwriting, or design. Register for any combination of workshop days. No experience necessary for any of these workshop days, just come with a willingness to try new things and have FUN!

OPEN TO STUDENTS IN GRADES 2-8

All camp days operate 9AM-3PM at 222 Sargent Drive, New Haven, CT 06511

monday 4/15

LAUGH LAB

If you love to make everyone around you laugh, then the Laugh Lab is for you! Students will explore improvisation through hilarious games and exercises. Learn to create a character from scratch, think quickly on your feet, and work as a troupe to put on a truly original show!

thursday 4/18

CREATIVE PLAY

Actors will unite to bring stage adaptations of the most popular fairytales to life before their very own eyes. Using simple props, instruments, voice, and body techniques our Story Theatre Ensemble will work together to create the world of the play for alive audience.

tuesday 4/16

WRITER'S WORKSHOP

This workshop will provide young playwrights with the tools they need to overcome writer's block and push their own boundaries as an artist. Class will feature opportunities to write and to hear their work out loud. Students may bring a piece that they are already working on or start something brand new.

friday 4/19

PERFECT THE PART

Whether you're preparing for auditions with your school or local theater, having strong monologues is a necessity for any actor. Students in this class will be guided through the entire audition process, including selecting a monologue, building a character, and conquering audition-day jitters.

wednesday 4/17

DESIGN DAY

Students will learn how designers and technicians work together to build sets, props, and costumes for professional theater. With the help of Long Wharf staff, participants will bring their own design dreams to life.

TUITION FOR THESE WORKSHOPS
IS JUST $60 A DAY!
